

ENTIRE COUNTY SHAKEN WHEN 10,000 POUNDS OF POWDER LET GO AT DUPONT
PLANT NEAR FAIRCHANCE; NONE KILLED

One of Four Men Employed at Place at Time is Slightly Injured.

CONNELLVILLE FEELS IT

Shock Occurring at 2:30 O'clock In Morning. Is Very Distinctly Felt Here, Many Being Roused From Deep Slumber; Damage $11,000.

Damage estimated at $10,000 to the property of the company and $1,000 to that of individuals, within a radius of several miles was wrought when the truck mill of the Dupont Powder
company at Oriental, near Fairchance, blew up at 2:30 o'clock this morning.

Nobody was killed. One man was injured.

Ten thousand pounds of powder vanished in a flash and the resultant concussion was heard in nearly every part of Fayette county and in adjoining counties. The shock was very distinct in Connellsville, many persons being awakened from deep slumber.

Windows are reported to have been broken for several miles around the plant.

William Price, 50 years old, an employee, was hurled against a cupboard
and suffered a contusion of the right leg. He was able to go home. Three other employees at the plant were hurled violently to the floor but were not hurt.

The cause of the explosion, so far as officials have been able to determine, is unknown. Superintendent O.
M. Dulaney said he could assign no cause. Officials of the powder company were notified and inspectors will be sent to the scene at once.

The truck mill is an isolated building, as are all others at the plant.
The output of the day's run is transported in trucks to this building where it remains until the next morning when it is packed. The doors had been closed since 5 o'clock and nobody had been about the mill, so far as is known.

When the explosive is removed to the truck mill it is quite warm, the temperature being 100 degrees or above. It is allowed to cool there. In the process of cooling it is said that a coating forms and under this is confined gas. One theory is that the gas may have been limited from spontaneous combustion. This was not an accidental theory.

Superintendent Dulaney said that it was very improbable that the explosion could be traced to an outside source. There have been no labor troubles of any kind at the place, he said.

All that remained of the mill after the blast was a hole in the ground.
Every bit of the building had been blown away.

Guards were placed about the plant
and none but employees and officials was admitted.

The Tri-State Telephone company's lines at Fairchance were out as a result of the explosion.

The last big explosion of powder
was at the Rand powder plant near Fairchance on the morning of September 9, 1905, in which 18 persons were killed and 22 injured and in which 10 buildings were destroyed in seven blasts in quick succession.

The explosion of this morning is the first big one recorded to have occurred during the night. Had it been during the day there probably would have been loss of life.

The force of the blast was felt here
so plainly that the door of a Pittsburg street restaurant, standing slightly ajar, was blown open. Persons on the West Side say they were shaken in their beds.

Houses on the hill section seem to have been shaken more than in the down town. Few persons were there on the pinnacle that were not awakened
by the rattle of windows. It was evident that a severe explosion had occurred.

MAY AGREE TO SALE

Belief if West Virginia Creditors Will Not Block Thompson Deal.

Pending outcome of negotiations between trustees of the J. V. Thompson estate and West Virginia creditors looking forward to an agreement by which objections of the West Virgin-holdings will be withdrawn, a further delay in federal court decision on the report of the referee in bankruptcy

has been secured.

It is expected that the decision will be handed down about March 1, prior to which time it is thought an agreement will be reached with the West Virginia creditors removing all objections to the sale of the Thompson properties to the Piedmont Coal company.

occupied and used as a dwelling only,
provided the liquor is for use for the personal consumption of the owner,

AMERICAN CITIZEN
SLAIN BY OFFICER
OF MEXICAN ARMY

Death of Gabriel Porter Found
Not Accidental; Two Others Killed.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Gabriel Porter, an American citizen in the employ of Penn-Mexican company,
was shot and killed by a federal army officer at Tuxamun on December 12, according to advices received by the State Department from the American consul at Tampico.

The Mexican authorities first reported that Porter had been accidentally shot by a companion in a party returning from a dance. Investigation by the Penn-Mexican officials and by the American consul was said to have developed that he was shot by an army officer.

The consul immediately was ordered to report further information and if the circumstances warranted order
all the local authorities in the district to arrest and punish the murderer.

This makes a total of 20 Americans killed in the district since April 7, 1917. Eighteen of them were employees of American oil companies.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 7.—Gabriel Porter, an employee of the Penn-Mexican company, was accidentally killed at Tuxamun, Mexico, December 12, in the view of company officials here.

"The report which we received from our Mexican manager was to the effect that Porter met his death accidentally," was said at the company's offices. "We do not know what news
the State Department has but we believe our reports are correct."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Receipt by the State Department late Tuesday of advices that two more American oil men were murdered by Mexicans in the Tampico district of Mexico was followed by instructions to the American embassy in Mexico City to urge the Mexican government to take every possible step to bring about the capture and punishment of the murderers.

First word of the killing of the two Americans, which brought the total of American citizens murdered in the Tampico district since April, 1917, up to 19, reached Washington through private sources. Later the State Department announced the receipt of similar advices and outlined the steps which had been taken by the department in the case. The department's information, which came from the American consul at Tampico, said the bodies of Roney and Bowles, who were employed by the International Petroleum company, were discovered Monday.

RED POWER GAINING

News from Russia Comes Through Tarentum Soldier from Siberia.

Bolshevism in Russia is gaining power rapidly and the country may be entirely in its control before many more months, according to Private Fred Kuhn of Company K, Thirty-

home in Tarentum yesterday, after spending 15 months in Siberia.

"The people of Siberia are friendly to Bolshevism," Kuhn said. "They want it, for they believe they will have greater liberties. In Vladivostok
I believe seven-eighths of the people have Bolshevistic tendencies, but they don't say anything about it, for the town is occupied by the allies."

By Associated Press.

BUTLER, Jan. 7.—Three hundred persons were taken in raids conducted at Lyndora, a steel town near here, by Department of Justice agents and state troopers during last night. They were assembled in an old school building in the center of the town.

Fifteen known leaders of the Communist party were detained. The rest were allowed to return to their homes.
In the Communist headquarters this office found a great deal of revolutionary literature and from the pocket of one leader the officers took a quantity of Communist membership cards
and buttons.

In the headquarters of the party pictures of Russian Bolshevists and American anarchists leaders were on

WARRANT OUT FOR ARREST OF SOVIET "AMBASSADOR"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—A warrant for the arrest and deportation of Ludwig Martens, self-styled ambassador of the Russian soviet government, has been ordered executed by the Department of Justice. Martens, regarded, officials said, as the real leader of the Communist party in the United States, was said to be in Washington. His arrest was expected soon.

Determination of the government to take Martens into custody was definitely made after all evidence which had a bearing on activities of the Russian soviet bureau in New York had been assembled by Assistant Attorney General Garvan. While officials would not disclose the nature of the evidence, they said some of it promised to be sensational.

Martens came to Washington nearly a week ago from New York and with him a secretary and other assistants.
He occupied a suite at a local hotel less than three blocks from the Department of Justice.

WALKING DIFFICULT

Streets of City Are Covered With Film
of Ice.

Persons walking to their work this morning made progress with great difficulty. A thin film of the smoothest ice formed on the ground early this morning when a drizzling rain froze covering the streets the effect of being covered with sleet.

Even those wearing rubber overshoes found this did not afford them any firm footing and falls were many.
The ice disappeared during the morning when the temperature rose to 50 degrees. Rain threatened and sometimes fell for a short time. The Yough river rose slightly following the break in the cold wave, going from 1.25 feet
to 2.05 feet.

BIG ROLL LOST HERE BY HOMESTEAD BOXER WAS TO

The mystery of the robbery of a
"Mr. Patton" of Homestead, now known as Ray Pryel, the boxer, who lost several hundred dollars in the city which he claims was taken by Pearl White, a negress, has been solved
after long delay.

After losing the $1,000 Pryel started for Homestead to report to Kelly. It is said he left $1,800 with Don Rittenour to be turned over to Charles Jacobs, colored, but Don had a good time asleep on a street car by his father, Charles Rittenour.

In the meantime Kelly had sworn out warrants and came here to make arrests. The White woman, who possessed a $150 forfeit and then skipped,
was arrested in Pittsburg, when Pryel ran across her there. She was brought back here for a hearing.

Arriving in this city Kelly, and the officers went to the home of Jacobs where they found Rittenour with the money. The sum of $1,200 was recovered. Jacobs this morning denied having anything to do with the matter. He said the money had been taken to his house because he had been called by telephone before Pryel came to this city and asked to direct him to the party where he could close his deal. This he assented to, Jacobs said, but he had no part whatever in the robbery of Pryel. The money Pryel claims the White woman took from him was $1,200.

GROVER BERGDOLL, DRAFT

By Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 7.—Grover
Bergdoll, one of the two brothers accused of draft dodging and who have been sought by the police for the last two years, was arrested in his mother's home here today. The search for the Bergdolls took federal agents
all over the country.

Grover got away in a high powered motor car, and reports reached this city that he was seen in various sections of the West. He sent impudent messages of post cards to the authorities. Once he was seen in Mexico and agents and police who broke into her

been in California and returned home

searched Bergdoll's country estate near this city. No trace of him was found.

The prisoner was taken to the fed-

Mrs. Bergdoll was arrested, charged

WINTER SPORTS ARE COMING INTO THEIR OWN THIS WINTER

City Is Alive With Hum of Athletic Activity; Something Doing Almost Every Night.

BASKETBALL TAKES LEAD

Indoor Floor Game Has Large Following of Fans; Five Good Teams Are Organized This Season; Interest Ticking Up in Pool, Bowling Also.

After practically a "dead season" as far as winter sports were concerned, Connelleville is making up for it during the 1919-20 term, and there is a regular hum of athletic activity here. At least five basketball teams of ability are in the field and patrons of the game have been given some real treats so far with promises of more. Of all the teams organized yet, the Macabees present the strongest line-up. The American Legion team is picking up wonderfully and the Unity Fraternity has been winning its games. The Armory club has strengthened, and in spite of practically green material from which to select, the high school quintet is turning out a surprise to many followers.

The girls' 400 are in the game again this year. High school class teams have stirred up some intense rivalry, and the entire school is back of the girls' varsity. The girls go under five for the first time this year on Saturday when Rockwood comes here.

Before Connelleville gets its baseball team, a park ought to be looked for. It is not generally known, but an exhibition game between the Boston Braves and the Detroit Tigers could have been staged here during April last, a suitable field with accommodations for a crowd being available. As it was, the Braves' manager could get no encouragement to come here.

Speaking of baseball, the Unity Fraternity also has its league. Cliff Crowley announces he could stop all comers from the mound and all that his team mates would need to do would be to bring in the runs. That is a little skeptic, however. Some of the numbers have seen Crowley pitch.

When there is not a basketball game or some other sport event going on in the city, real activity can be found at the Y. M. C. A. gym. Volley ball is the "heavy" game there, and some of the fans are developing into real artists.

The Macabees basketball team will get down to work now that the holiday season is over. Several members were home over the vacation period, forging an idle period. The team expects to book some first class teams for this city before the season ends.

The Macabees will feel a loss in Martin, the former high school physical director, and center on the team. There is some uncertainty as to just who will take his place. Martin was a steady and consistent worker, always handy in a tight place.

Since old Jack Frost took Connelleville in his icy grip, the tennis courts on the South Side only serve to revive memories. They insure an early start for a successful summer season, however. Here's hoping the tournament will come off in the fall.

The high school basketball team continues to attract its crowds in spite of all the games being played in the city this year. Just an indication that the Orange and Black defenders still have their pep and can put up a game to make the blood of a fan race through his veins.

Friday evening will mark the opening of the W. P. I. A. League season. Connelleville has an opportunity to grab honors this year. The locals, however, have a hard opener, that with Beckhead, last year's champions. In addition to league games, Connelleville will also schedule the usual high schools which play here, including Scituate and Greensburg.

C. Roy Hetzel, president of the school board, has offered a special inducement to the high school team to put forth its best efforts. If the locals win the championship of the W. P. I. A. League section in which they play, he will give a small loving cup. Then if the championship of the entire league is captured, he will give a larger cup.

A good drawing card in Connelleville was the St. Vincent's College Freshman team. This organization defeated the high school, came back later and lost to the Unity Fraternity at the armory by a score of 45-35; then went to Leavenworth and defeated the athletic club of that place on Saturday night. The quintet has now resumed its school schedule.

ARMORY CLUB IS AN EASY WINNER OVER LEGION BASKETEERS

First Half Close But Armory Players Walk Away From the Service Men in Second.

The Armory club basketball team walked away with The American Legion team in the second half of the game at the armory last night, winning, 42-24. The game in the first half was interesting, neither team getting any large advantage over the other and ended, 17-15 for the Armory club.

The Legion team's downfall was due to the inability of its forwards to keep up the pace. Henry, who started as a forward for the armory men, was the entire Legion team in the latter part of the game. At the opening of the second half he scored a difficult goal, tying the score, but without further support could not keep his quintet in the lead. Goodman, Legion forward, was outclassed by Alderfer, playing at guard for the Armory club. "Al" held Goodman to three field goals, one in the first half and two in the second period. Goodman's last two goals were "banded" to him. At the same time Alderfer scored, five pretty goals for his team.

The Legion has some good material, but team work is sadly lacking. The Armory boys, playing a more aggressive game consistently took the ball from their antagonists and only poor form in shooting goals kept the score from being larger than that made.

The floor was in good condition last night and the first half was one of the fastest basketball periods yet seen on the arena. The score:
Legion. Armory Club.
Henry. F. W. Lyon.
Goodman. F. R. Lyon.
Sherrick. C. Buttermore.
Sheets. G. Alderfer.
Hannigan. G. Hanner.
Field goals: Buttermore, 6; Henry, 5; Alderfer, 8; W. Lyon, 4; Goodman, 2.
Foul goals: Hannigan, 8 out of 14; W. Lyon, 12 out of 15.
Substitutions: Martin for Henry; Henry for Sheets.
Referee—Wall.
Scorer—Randolph.

URGES PEOPLE TO FIGHT CATARRH WITH SIMPLE HOME MADE REMEDY

Can Make Pint at Home and Costs Little, Says Leading Druggist of Covington, Ky., Who Has Made Special Study of Catarrh.

Says: Inflamed Nostrils Invite Influenza

People who say that catarrh is a disease not to be taken seriously are harshly rebuked by a Kentucky druggist who has for years been much interested in the growth of this loathsome, yet altogether too common disease.

He claims that the sore, tender, inflamed membrane of the nostrils and throat is a prolific breeding ground for germs—not only the germs of influenza, but many other kinds as well.

If people would only stop experimenting for two weeks and try a simple remedy made of Mentholized Arcline mixed with enough boiled water to make a full pint, half of the catarrh in this country would be abolished. It's really no joke for people who don't know about this simple recipe to be constantly sniffing and snuffling, blowing and hawking, when all these obnoxious symptoms as well as the foul discharge can be made to disappear in a few days.

Ask for three-quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arcline—that's all you need and after you have mixed it with enough boiled water to make a pint, gargle the throat twice daily and sniff or spray some up the nostrils, as directed.

The tender nostrils will soon lose their soreness, heal up, and be clean and healthy.

Important Reminder: Just as soon as anyone in the family gets a cold in the head, check it at once with this same medicine.

DEMOCRATS AT SEA REGARDING STAND AS TO THIRD TERM

Gems from Party Platforms of Other Days Creating Renewed Interest Among Leaders.

Special to The Courier.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—As the time draws near for the gathering in Washington of the Democratic leaders for the discussion of convention plans, a lively discussion is developing as to whether President Wilson will stay the opportunity at the Jackson Day dinner to announce that he will not be a candidate for re-election for a third term. Without revealing the motives prompting them, many of the leading Democrats in Washington have intimated that he will make such an announcement, and many others have rushed forward to deny that he has any such course in mind. The discussion has given added interest to the following planks from former Democratic national platforms. In 1896 the party's platform said:

"We declare it to be the unwritten law of this republic, established by custom and usage for 100 years and sanctioned by the examples of the greatest and wisest of those who founded and have maintained our government, that no man should be eligible for a third term of the presidential office."

In 1912 the platform said:
"We favor a single presidential term, and to that end we urge the adoption of an amendment to the constitution making the President of the United States ineligible for re-election, and we pledge the candidate of this convention to this principle." Thus Mr. Bryan nailed down his anti-third term by "pledging the candidate of this convention to this principle." When an effort was made to carry out the recommendation for the putting through of a constitutional amendment, the effort was blanketed in Congress upon adverse intimation from administration sources.

In 1916, when President Wilson was re-nominated no mention was made of the third term, nor even of re-election to a second term.

Iron Will

That great strength of mind and body, that exhaustless energy, that IRON WILL that make a famous merchant out of a humble clerk, a millionaire out of a penniless immigrant, a Lincoln out of a woodchopper—often come from red blood—rich in iron.

"Do you lack power of decision, energy, and stamina? Are your ambitions greater than your strength? You need not be discouraged," says Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly of Bellevue Hospital, (Out-door Dept.), New York, and Westchester County Hospital. "By feeding the blood pure organic iron—Nuxated Iron—many a weak, run-down, discouraged man has changed to a red-blooded American, full of force and energy that win success."

Nuxated Iron is used and endorsed by former United States Senators and Members of Congress, and by such world-known men as Paderewski, Premier of Poland. It often increases strength and endurance in two weeks' time.

AN AFTERNOON PROCK

Just in one of its many roles which are played with such unvarying success, comes black satin made into a frock that effects simplicity while it achieves originality. The narrow straps that begin just above the long waistline tuck up in the hem of the quite plain little skirt. The neck line is low at the back as it is in front and there are pipings of the satin for finishing.

SMITHFIELD Jan 7.—The gas in the rooms of the Star Gas company froze up Sunday night in consequence of which families in the borough having no other heat are greatly inconvenienced by having to depend on their neighbors that use coal for heating and domestic purposes. The bank, which is heated with gas exclusively, froze out the middle of the forenoon Monday and closed their doors to clerks and cashier going home to thaw out.

R A McCann sons, Andrew and Don of Nicholson township were thorough business visitors Monday.

The Evangelistic services were held on account of the gas by which the Presbyterian church is lighted not being adequate to light the church. The M L church has both gas and electric lights and at that the lights are not as should be. The electric lights are hanging too high and being diffused through colored glass, the light is very dim in the pews, so much that old people who have poor vision cannot read the responses nor participate in the congregational singing unless they have the lines committed SMITHFIELD Jan 7.—Rev Rebe Austin administered the ordinance of baptism to seven candidates at the morning service in the Baptist church Sunday.

The Union Chapel service, at the local churches sponsored by the Presbyterian church Sunday evening. Rev. Mackman preaching the opening sermon. The services will be held in this church each evening during the week beginning at 7:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Crow, daughter Phelma, son Cameron, and Miss Helen East of Maple Farm, called on relatives in the borough Sunday.

Crow recently butchered some flax workers of which he writes and the boys were the recipients of some choice cuts and a liberal portion of sausage. The fact that Leo seasoned the sausage with granulated sugar that he mistook for salt did not detract from the palatableness of the sausage but rather improved the flavor. When ready to apply the seasoning 10 packages lay near him and one containing salt the other sugar. He got into the sugar and applied about two pounds of he sweet before discovering his mistake.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

CHAPTER IV.

The Altar of the Flaming God. It was at the moment that Tarzan turned from the closed door to pursue his way to the outer world. The thing came without warning. One instant all was quiet and stability;—the next the world rocked, the tortured sides of the narrow passageway split and crumbled, great blocks of granite, dislodged from the ceiling, tumbled into the narrow way, choking it, and the walls bent inward upon the wreckage. Beneath the blow of a fragment of the roof, Tarzan staggered back against the door to the treasure room, his weight pushed it open and his body rolled inward upon the floor.

There was but the single shock, no other followed to complete the damage undertaken by the first. Werper, thrown to his length by the suddenness and violence of the disturbance, staggered to his feet when he found himself unharmed. Groping his way toward the far end of the chamber, he sought the candle which Tarzan had left stuck in his own war upon the protruding end of an upst.

By striking numerous matches the Belgian at last found what he sought, and when, a moment later, the sickly rays relieved the Stygian darkness about him, he breathed a nervous sigh of relief, for the impenetrable gloom had accentuated the terrors of his situation.

As they became accustomed to the light the man turned his eyes toward the door—his one thought now was of escape from this frightful tomb—and as he did so he saw the body of the dead giant lying stretched upon the floor just within the doorway. Werper drew back in sudden fear of detection.

A Second Glance Convinced Him That the Englishman Was Dead.

but a second glance convinced him that the Englishman was dead. From a great gash in the man's head a pool of blood had collected upon the concrete floor.

Quickly, the Belgian leaped over the prostrate form of his erstwhile host, and without a thought of succor for the man in whom, for aught he knew, life still remained, he bolted for the passageway and safety.

But his renewed hopes were soon dashed. Just beyond the doorway he found the passage completely clogged and choked by impenetrable masses of shattered rock. Once more he turned and re-entered the treasure vault. Taking the candle from its place he commenced a systematic search of the apartment, nor had he gone far before he discovered another door in the opposite end of the room, a door which gave upon creaking hinges to the weight of his body. Beyond the door lay another narrow passageway. Along this Werper made his way, ascending a flight of stone steps in another corridor twenty feet above the level of the first.

Before him was a circular shaft. He held the candle above it and peered downward. Below him, at a great distance, he saw the light reflected back from the surface of a pool of water. He had come upon a well. He raised the candle above his head and peered across the black void, and there upon the opposite side he saw the confusion of the tunnel; but how was he to span the gulf?

As he stood there measuring the distance to the opposite side and wondering if he dared venture so great a leap, there broke suddenly upon his startled ears a piercing scream which died gradually until it ended in a series of dismal moans.

The Belgian shuddered and looked fearfully upward, for the scream had seemed to come from above him. As he looked he saw an opening far overhead, and a patch of sky linked with brilliant stars.

He listened fearfully, but the cry was not repeated, and at last spurred to desperate means, he gathered himself for the leap across the chasm. Going back twenty paces, he took a running start, and at the edge of the well, leaped upward and outward in an attempt to gain the opposite side.

In his hand he clutched the sputtering candle, and as he took the leap the rush of air extinguished it. In utter darkness he flew through space, clutching outward for a hold should his feet miss the invisible ledge.

He struck the edge of the floor of the opposite terminus of the rocky tunnel with his knees, slipped backward, clutched desperately for a moment, and at last hung half within and half without the opening; but he was safe. Cautionally, he drew himself well within the tunnel, and again he lay at full length upon the floor, fighting to regain control of his shattered nerves.

When his knees struck the edge of the tunnel he had dropped the candle. Presently, hoping against hope that it had fallen upon the floor of the passageway, rather than back into the depths of the well, he rose upon all fours and commenced a diligent search for the little tallow cylinder, which now seemed infinitely more precious to him than all the fabulous wealth of the hoarded legions of Opur.

And when, at last, he found it, he clasped it to him and sank back sobbing and exhausted. For many minutes he lay trembling and broken; but finally he drew himself to a sitting posture, and with the light he found it easier to regain control of his senses, and presently he was again making his way along the tunnel in search of an avenue of escape. The horrid cry that had come down to him from above through the ancient well-shaft still haunted him, so that he trembled in terror at even the sounds of his own cautious advance.

A long, dark corridor showed before him, but before he had followed it far, his candle burned down until it scorched his fingers. With an oath he dropped it to the floor, where it sputtered for a moment and went out.

Slowly he groped his way along, feeling with his hands upon the tunnel's walls, and cautiously with his feet ahead of him upon the floor he felt he would take a single forward step. How long he crept on thus he could not guess; but at last, feeling that the tunnel's length was interminable, and exhausted by his efforts, by terror, and loss of sleep, he determined to lie down and rest before proceeding farther.

When he awoke there was no change in the surrounding blackness. He might have slept a second or a day—he could not know; but that he had slept for some time was attested by the fact that he felt refreshed and hungry.

Again he commenced his groping advance; but this time he had gone but a short distance when he emerged into a room, which was lighted through an opening in the ceiling, from which a flight of concrete steps led downward to the floor of the chamber.

Above him, through the aperture, Werper could see sunlight glancing from massive columns, which were twined about by clinging vines. He listened, but he heard no sound.

Boldly he ascended the stairway, to find himself in a circular court. Just behind him stood a stone altar, stained with rusty-brown discolorations. At the time Werper gave no thought to an explanation of these stains—later their origin became all too hideously apparent to him.

Besides the opening in the floor, just behind the altar, through which he had entered the court from the subterranean chamber below, the Belgian discovered several doors leading from the inclosure upon the level of the floor. Above, and circling the courtyard, was a series of open balconies; Werper felt relieved. He sighed, as though a great weight had been lifted from his shoulders. He took a step toward one of the exits, and then he halted, wide-eyed in astonishment and terror, for almost at the same instant a dozen doors opened in the courtyard wall and a horde of frightful men rushed in upon him.

They were the priests of the Flaming God of Opur—the same shaggy, knotted, hideous little men who had dragged Jane Clayton to the sacrificial altar at this very spot years before. Their long arms, their short and crooked legs, their close-set, evil eyes, and their low, receding foreheads gave them a bestial appearance that sent a quail of paralyzing fright through the shaken nerves of the Belgian.

With a scream he turned to flee back into the lesser terrors of the gloomy corridors and apartments from which he had just emerged, but the frightful men anticipated his intentions. They blocked the way; they seized him, and though he fell, groveling upon his knees before them, begging for his life, they bound him and hurled him to the floor of the inner temple.

The priestesses came, and with them La, the high priestess. Werper was raised and laid across the altar. Cold sweat exuded from his every pore as La raised the cruel, sacrificial knife above him. The death dart fell upon his tortured ears. His staring eyes wandered to the golden goblets from which the hideous votaries would soon quench their inhuman thirst in his own, warm life-blood.

He wished that he might be granted the brief respite of unconsciousness before the final plunge of the keen blade—and then there was a frightful roar that sounded almost in his ears. The high priestess lowered her dagger. Her eyes went wide in horror. The priestesses, her votaries, screamed and fled madly toward the exits. The priests roared out their rage and terror according to the temper of their courage. Werper strained his neck about to catch a sight of the cause of their panic, and when at last he saw it, he too went cold in dread, for what his eyes beheld was the figure of a huge lion standing in the center of the temple, and already a single victim lay mangled beneath his cruel paws.

Again the lord of the wilderness roared, turning his baleful gaze upon the altar. La staggered forward, reeled, and fell across Werper in a swoon.

"The Flirting Princess," the big Musical Surprise with Harry Bulger and the famous Rainbow Chorus. Soisson Theatre, Friday, Matinee and night.

THE SOISSON.

"THE FLIRTING PRINCESS"—One of the most important theatrical events of the season, featuring Harry Bulger, the famous comedian, will be presented Friday afternoon and evening at the Soisson. Mr. Bulger's fun-making methods are original and droll and his songs the funniest imaginable. Evidently the word has passed along to local theatregoers that "The Flirting Princess" is providing the most sensational, enjoyable and delightful entertainment of all musical attractions on the road this season. Harry Bulger, it will be remembered, scored big hits in "The Beauty and the Beast," "Mother Goose," "Woodland," "The Man From Now" and the Cohan and Harris Revue. Mr. Bulger will be supported by an excellent cast of Broadway musical favorites and the prettiest, merriest and girliest of all musical comedy choruses. It will be the first time that this splendid musical attraction will be seen in this city.

THE SOISSON.

"AS A MAN THINKS"—An interesting production starring Leah Baird, the popular screen actress, is being presented today and will also be repeated tomorrow. The picture is interesting from the beginning to the end and provides Miss Baird with one of the best roles of her screen career. She is supported by an all star cast. A selected comedy is also being shown.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"TOTON"—A Triangle special presentation, with Olive Thomas in the leading role, is an interesting feature today.

NOW GETS 48 EGGS A DAY INSTEAD OF 3

Mr. Vincent Cured His Hen of the "Winter Laying Habit. Easily Done."

"My egg supply has increased wonderfully. Early in January, I started using Don Sung. I had been getting about 3 eggs every other day from 10 hens. By the end of January I was getting a dozen a day."—G. W. Vincent, South, Ky.

Mr. Vincent's results, in January, prove that you can get the eggs when eggs are high. It's no trouble and costs nothing to try. The same effect that Mr. Vincent accepted is open to you.

Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us and your money will be promptly refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) works directly on the egg-laying organs, and is also a splendid tonic. It is usually given in the feed, improves the hen's health, makes her stronger and more active in any weather, and starts her laying.

Try Don Sung for 30 days and if it doesn't get you the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather, your money will be refunded by return mail. Get Don Sung from your drugstore or poultry supply dealer or send 50 cents for a package by mail prepaid. Burroughs-Walker Co., 225 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.—Adv.

GRANDMOTHER KNEW
There Was Nothing So Good for Congestion and Colds as Mustard.

But the old-fashioned mustard-plaster burned and blistered while it acted. Get the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister. Musterole does it. It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It is scientifically prepared, so that it works wonders, and yet does not blister the tenderest skin.

Gently massage Musterole in with the finger-tips. See how quickly it brings relief—how speedily the pain disappears.

Use Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).
